DETAILED ACTION

Continuation Data

1. Acknowledged this application is a continuation application of U.S. Serial No.

5 10/795,859 filed on January 22, 2002 now abandoned.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

10 (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

15 3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawahara (US 2002/0039113, hereinafter "Kawahara") in view of Barnes (US 6,467,222, hereinafter "Barnes").

Kawahara discloses an internet-facilitated virtual cemetery visiting system (see abstract)
20 where users enter over the internet gravestone ID (see paragraph 0003, 0012, 0082, 0083). Much information can be retrieved from the system including a family tree (see figure 34; paragraph 0166).

As shown in figure 9, the virtual scene of the gravestone shows identifying indicia (name of the deceased person). However, Kawahara fails to specifically teach or fairly suggest that the 25 medallion is attached to the gravestone.

Art Unit: 2876

Barnes teaches a metal memorial marker 50 (see abstract and main figure), which contains memorial information of the deceased (col. 1, lines 61+).

In view of Barnes' disclosure, it would have been obvious to an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ well-known metal memorial piece to the teachings of Kawahara in order to enhance decoration of the tombstone. Making tombstone beautiful and personal is a well-known trait in making memorable products. As disclosed in many previously cited references, adding a life story or something more than a name and date on the tombstone is already known. Accordingly, placing a tombstone ID as disclosed in Kawahara, and utilizing Internet for volume storage of information and access of information from virtually anywhere would have been obvious improvement one ordinary skill in the art would contemplate.

Conclusion

I. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Huff (US 6,760,731) discloses Genealogy registry system. Applicant is respectfully suggested to carefully review these references.
